NIZATION SCHEME.

The Head of the Syndicate and a Arrive in Williamsburg

WILLIAMSBURG, VA., December 4 .-(Special.)-Rev. Dr. Isaac Ketler, presient of the Grove City College, in Mercer county, Pa., and head of the syndicate which owns the King's Mill farm on James river, is here to-day with a surveyor to commence work as soon as the weather opens up. The tract will be laid off in small farms, as stated in a former letter, and sold to land-seekers from the West and North, a number of whom are already here to look over the place. Mr. J. A. Courtney, the manager of the King's Mill farm, was also in town to-day, and was with Dr. Ketler attending to some preliminary matters in regard to the proposed colonization of the

Mr. L. H. Poe and Mr. E. T. D. Myers, Jr., from Richmond, arrived here this morning, and drove over to Jamestown They are making a survey of the property belonging to the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiqui-ties. It is stated that the society wishes a complete and accurate map of their land, and will very soon begin the work of having it thoroughly drained. A ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Buchanan, of New York, arrived here yesterday, and registered at the Colonial Inn. They left Old Point just before the late storm in their private yacht, and were caught in the storm Wednesday night off Fergus-son's wharf, in James river, and came near being lost. The boat dragged an-chor, and they thought every moment was their last. The next morning they managed to reach Jamestown, where they landed, and were driven with Mr. Buchnan's valet over here. They are now at the Hygeia, Old Point, and will return here early next week. FINE SKATING.

There was fine skatting on the Hospital pond, near here, to-day, the ice being about two and a half inches thick. A good crowd was out enjoying the sport, many of whom lingered until a late hour. Miss Susan Webb, who spent Thanksgiving here with her family, has returned to Norfolk, where she is attending school. Judge Sydney Smith of Yorkiown, was o Norfolk, where she is attending school.

Judge Sydney Smith, of Yorktown, was here to-day. The Judge will soon begin to improve his house, preparatory to his moving in early next year. Mr. John Spencer leaves during the week for New York. Colonel Charles H. Bover, immigration agent of the whesapeake and Ohio, and S. F. Thompson, of Mercer, Pa., are here

In lieu of the usual morning service at Venable-Street Baptist church to-morrow, there will be a roll-call rally at 11 o'clock. The special purpose of this somewhat unique service is to raise funds towards liquidating the church debt. Some weeks ago envelopes were distributed among the members, and as the name of each is called to-morrow he or she will walk up and place on the table this entoward the payment of the debt of the

At night the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. S. Dill, will preach on "The Roll-Call in Heaven."

By mutual agreement between the defendants in the case of the Scelety for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against the promoters of the cock-fight which took place at the Exposition-Grounds last Tuesday night, examination will be waived before a magistrate this morning, and the case will be sent on to the County Court he County Court. This action has been decided upon with twofold purpose in view-first, in order that those interested in the case may have the benefit of the nighest authority to sustain them, and, further, that those who were present at the main as speciators may be protected.

Young Lady Painfully Burned.

Miss Sallie Wray, daughter of Mr. A. J. Wray, of No. 810 west Cary street, was quite severely burned yesterday morning. She was engaged in cleaning a pair of silk gloves with gasoline, having them on her hands, when the gasoline ignited, and instantly her hands were in flames. Miss Wray ran into the bath-room and plunged her hands and were in flames. Miss Wray ran into the bath-room and plunged her hands and arms into water. The flames were extinguished, but not until both hands had been burned up to the wrist. When the gloves were removed the flesh came off with them.
